Candidates in Pre-K through 12th grade needed

A new version of a well-trusted achievement test is being developed. School-age children and young adults are needed to complete the research version of the 1 to 3-hour test.

Participation is voluntary and paid. Depending on age, participants may be asked to write letters, words, and sentences, read passages, and answer questions about what they have read.

Two types of candidates are needed:

- Typically developing OR
- Those with educational or psychological diagnosis*

Test scores will not be released. All information will remain confidential.

*gifted and talented, learning disorder in reading, writing, or math, intellectual disability, or language delay may be eligible.
